

The Avalanche.

O. PALMER, EDITOR & PROPRIETOR.

THURSDAY, MARCH 11, 1886.

POLITICAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Bradstreet's trade review shows improvement in the dry goods trade, less confidence in the iron trade, owing to tariff discussions, and a general improvement in the industrial situation. — Detroit News.

The New York Sun is very anxious to know "whether the democracy or the Pan-electric should be saved." We do not believe we are violating any confidence in replying that the country is willing the tail should go with the hide. — Kalamazoo.

Hanford Smith, who disappeared from Gladwin township, Kalamazoo county, with $3,100 public funds, is enjoying himself in Canada. The authorities offer $500 for Smith's return, but he makes $2,600 by remaining in his present comfortable location. — Detroit Journal.

Tally one for Grayling. A special dispatch from Washington to the Detroit News, says that the entire Michigan delegation are opposed to moving the Land Office to Lansing, our only competitor of any importance. This insures its location here, if desirability of location is taken into consideration.

Senator Call, of Florida, has been detected in a fraudulent scheme to deprive a poor negro of his homestead. To accomplish his purpose he bribed a clerk in the Land Office at Washington to assist him. There does not seem to be any depth to which some of our public men of the dominant class will not descend, to accomplish their ends, from the president down.

To say to the world, "I have removed this man from office for cause—that is, because he has proved unfaithful as a public servant," and at the same time to say, "but I will not let the people or their representative know what misconduct is alleged against him," is to assume the despotic power to destroy character without a question. — N. Y. Sun.

The wild enthusiasm which greeted General Logan, at the Michigan Republican Club banquet, and every mention of his name showed too plainly that no man in the country occupies so warm a place in the hearts of the members of his party, and if nothing more, a place in the hearts of the nation. — Tuscola Co. Advertiser.

Early last summer the President appointed Thos. Ryan postmaster at Sault Ste. Marie. But as usual the President was deceived by his party friends. He has now withdrawn Mr. Ryan's name, because of charges of forgery preferred against him. It is said the president is becoming exceedingly cautious in appointing democrats. — Bay City Tribune.

We clip the following from the Sterling correspondence of the Bay City Tribune: "S. H. Edgumbe & Co., finding their old quarters in Mrs. Tisdale's old stand too small for their growing business, rented the store of Moorehouse & Co., who have gone out of business, and filled up the store with a large stock. Having the nicest store in the village and the best location they are drawing a large trade."

We clip the following from the Elmira correspondence of the Oleto Co. Herald: "The readers of the HERALD at Grayling may find consolation for the piece of imposition played upon them by that girl some weeks ago, in the fact that a letter from Detroit informs us that she has been sent to the house of correction for ninety days. So for a time we will all have a rest from the games of 'Dora Temple, of Louisville, Kentucky.'"

Senator John P. Miller, of California, died at Washington City, on last Monday, from the effects of a wound received during the war. He went into the service from Indiana, a State which turned out more patriots and butternuts to the army than other one in the Union; as Colonel of the 20th Indiana; commanded a brigade under Generals Sherman, Rosecrans, Thomas and Buell, and was breveted Major General at the close of the war. The vacancy will be filled by the appointment of a democrat to the position, and an ex-confederate at that, if one can be found, which would be in accordance with democratic propriety.

The Toledo Blade says: "A rumor is afloat in Washington that a combined effort is to be made by the Knights of Labor to secure a reorganization of the United States Senate. It is stated that the leaders of this organization are determined upon a gradual extinction of wealthy men from the upper branch of the national legislature. This fight is to be made irrespective of party. There are many wealthy men in the Senate, and there are a few who are identified with corruption influence." It is our opinion that the Knights of Labor are biting off more than they can readily chew.

The March Century.

In the frontispiece of the March CENTURY there is a reminder that Spain has been astonishingly quiet since the death of the young king, "Emilio Castelar, the Orator,"—whose striking personality is revealed in the portrait, and described in William Jackson Armstrong's paper with the above title, and in a crisp article of "Romances" by Alvey A. Adee, of the State Department, Washington,—has been a figure in every political agitation since the abdication of Isabella II., the mother of the late king. These articles define the brilliant talents which have made Castelar the pride of his people, and his limitations as a popular leader.

In the opening paper, "Italy from a Tricycle," Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pennell began a novel pen and pictorial account of a trip from Florence to Rome, in a manner of travel and description made peculiarly their own by their clever book, a "Cantabrigia Pilgrimage." Twenty-seven sketches in this first part, realize the best aim of travel illustration; and in the text the sights and incidents of the journey are entrancingly described. Examiner Benjamin writes of "Mountaineering in Persia," as experienced during a summer trip in the Elburz mountains "for health and trout." Like his other papers, this article is richly illustrated.

Mr. Howells, in the second part of his new novel, "The Minister's Charge," treats Lemuel Barker, to an arrest and imprisonment on a false charge, while bringing the reader in contact with phases of city life not previously treated by the author. The fifth part of Mrs. Mary Mallock Foote's story of mining life is a dramatic approach to the trial scene which is begun, and with which "John Bodewin's Testimony" will end, in the April number. Mr. Stockton's amusing novelette, "A Borrowed Month," concludes with a transfer of the scene from Switzerland to Albany, and with the complications produced there by the mental magic of the hero in Switzerland.

The poems of the number are contributed by L. Frank Tooker, Anthony Morehead, Charles Warren Stoddard, Mrs. Fanny Foster Clark, W. Bliss Carver, and in "Brice-a-Brac," by Miss Danya Morgan Smith, Frank D. Sherman Margaret Vandegrift, and Virginia B. Harrison. Subscriptions received at this office.

The Art Amateur.

For March contains an admirable color study of the head of a steer, by James M. Hart, together with a most practical and instructive article on cattle painting by the same well-known artist. Other striking features are a superb double-page bird design from the pen of Mr. J. H. B. Rogers, a pleasing conventional floral decoration from an old Roman faience plate, and a bold design of scrolls, wreaths and musical cherubs from a Louis XIV. harpsichord. The regular supplement designs include a fine panel of hops for wood carving, a cup and saucer decoration (huckleberries), embroideries, cushions, alms bag and altar frontal, a page of monograms (in J) and the seventh page of Miss Seabright's charming outline sketches. The current New York exhibitions, art education in Boston, flower painting in oils, amateur photography, dining room decoration, and the alteration of city houses, are topics receiving special attention. The "Talk with Amanda" on composition should be read by every young artist, and a good many of the older ones might profit by it. The whole number in fact is particularly worthy of attention of art students and art lovers in general. Price 35 cents. Montague Marks, Publisher, 23 Union Square, New York.

Godley's Lady's Book.

For March presents some notable attractions, not the least of which is a cleverly executed frontispiece portraying "The Crown," a companion picture to "The Smile," which proved to be such a point of merit in the January issue. "The Crown" is a fine steel engraving of excellent finish and artistic workmanship. It presents the usual strong features which are known to characterize the illustrations appearing from time to time in GODLEY'S LADY'S BOOK. The fashion plates of this magazine display more taste and common sense than those of any similar publication we have ever seen. The work design this month is quite unique and is accompanied by an extra plate of silhouettes illustrating an article in which amateurs are instructed how to make shadow portraits. The reading matter for March comprises among other things the conclusion of Helen Mathers' story, "Love Lies a-Bleeding," and the continuation of "In Her Own Right." Next month there will be a charming French serial by J. V. Prichard. The editor considers this a very strong and dramatic story which will be certain to captivate the readers of Godley's. The table of contents for March contains among other readable matter the following:

"Spirit of the Desert: a Mesmerist Mystery," "The Rose and the Lily," "Jack's Silhouettes," "A Trilling Misapprehension," "Woman in Japan," "The Miracle of Living," "Art vs. Love," "A Legacy of Love," "Evening Boat Song," "When the Cows Came Home," etc., etc. GODLEY'S improves every month. It is one of the few magazines one never tires of seeing.

St. Nicholas.

The frontispiece in St. Nicholas for March, 1886 is an engraving by Johnson of Mme. Le Brun's famous and beautiful portrait of herself, illustrating Mrs. Clement's "Art and Artists" paper on "French Painters,"—including Claude Lorraine, David, Ingres, and the Verneys.

Mrs. Burnett's serial, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," follows with a most delicately humorous account of the young American nobleman's first interview with his aristocratic grandfather.

One of the principal features of the number is the first line of the "St. Nicholas Dog Stories." This series is to include interesting stories, sketches, and anecdotes collected from various sources during the last five years; and these will now be published from time to time for the benefit of all dog-lovers. Henry Eckford's "Wonders of the Alphabet" will be a revelation to many readers of the magazine, who have probably never imagined that so many interesting and curious things could be said about those very elementary a, b, c's. "George Washington," Horace E. Souder's biographical serial, is as entertaining as fiction, and this installment is of special interest, as it tells of Washington's first campaigning experience against the French and Indians in 1754. Frank R. Stockton's "Personally Conducted" is a stay-at-home traveler to Florence and Venice, where with the aid of the abundant illustrations they can enjoy almost all there is to be seen, though they may miss the sensation of floating in gondolas.

Of the short stories the most notable are "Quaker Esther's Ride," an exciting horse-story by E. Vinton Blake, and "The Great Snowball Fight," in which Charles Barner tells how the snow-ball fighters turned into a fire-brigade. "The Brownies' Circus" leads the poetry in popular interest, and Alfred Brennan exhibits some curiosities of drawing in his clever "Minute Sketches." There is a short paper by Helen Jackson (H. J.), and "The Agassiz Association," contains the annual reports of the association under the new arrangement.

Celery Culture Simplified.

The tedious task of digging trenches to plant celery in, and afterward the great labor of banking it up to blanch, prevents thousands of private gardeners from growing this delicious vegetable. This year there is offered to the public a new sort known as Nellie's Self-Blanching Celery, which can be grown as easily as a head of cabbage or lettuce, and requires that only a little earth should be drawn up around the stalks, similar to hilling corn, and remain a couple of weeks, or the next quality. This way of culture saves two-thirds of the time required to cultivate and blanch the old green sort. This new variety is distinct and is of a beautiful cream white color, and crisp and tender. The introducers offer to send a packet, valued at 20 cents, of this rare sort to any one sending the names and addresses of five persons who take pride in a garden, parties who grow vegetables for market preferred, and also a two-cent stamp to pay for postage and packing. They will also send free to any one who desires it their large twenty-six page illustrated garden and floral instructor for 1886, which illustrates this new celery and describes it at length. Their address is: The A. C. Nellie Co., growers of the famous brand of Mohawk Valley Seeds, Canajoharie, N. Y.

Here is an item that all business firms and corporations should remember: "It has been decided by the courts that if the partner of a dissolving firm neglects to give notice through a newspaper of a dissolution of partnership; he is equally liable with his partner for all debts contracted after dissolution."
